Foreword

AT last the Board has its proboscis off the grindstone. Let those bored by the book and those bored by the sharp gimlet of truth and satire fall upon our several necks and weep. Remember if it hurt your feelings it hurt us likewise to do it. Most any members of our illustrious class could have edited this book better or at least equally well and still have found a few moments of leisure in which to attend college, but to us the duty fell. The echoes of that fall are but just now dying out. Now do your durndest. The Board is once more happy and care-free, not so much from a sense of duty well done as that of a duty all done.

THE BOARD.

To the End

COAL is scarce, of course it is scarce! They are hoarding it up so that our heroic selves may set the world on fire when we begin to sprint up the bread and butter highway. It is vaguely rumored that bank presidents, oil magnates, and eminent authors all over the country are prepared to use every means, fair or foul, to prevent this very stupendously tremendous avalanche of brains, and brawn, from sweeping them into Has-Been Land,—Pierpont M. and John D and Andrew C. don't want to starve to death, you know. No one with the least sympathy can blame them one iota for resisting to the bitter end these Waterloo-less Napoleons. Please excuse the frequent change of metaphor. One must use every metaphor and every impressive phrase to set forth properly even in low relief, the scintillating brilliance of our super-superlative class. We are the one Garden of Eden guaranteed no weeds. We are not Alpha and Omega just Alpha suits us! At our remote debut as unsophisticated neophytes, we towered far above the average of freshmen, in general remarkableness. In these swift years we have been painstakingly sorted and sifted by Clotho, Atropos, and Lachesis, until, in the finished and selected remainder which will be soon persuaded to accept sheepskins, you behold first-water, simon-pure jewels, whose light you couldn't hide under a bushel if you wanted to. Selah!

Our Boast

WITH care worthy of a better cause we have picked and chosen our way. Have we succeeded so far? Yea, verily. Will we finish strong? Again the Ayes have it. In three years we have learned much, not only books, but human nature. In the hanging of a jaw bone we detect power or indecision. For us one spells W-O-R-K, the other L-O-A-F.

In the hey day of our Freshman career we may have been a trifle wild, in our Soph year, a trifle lusty and overbearing, but, in our Junior year we have had our fling and now are prepared to grasp with unfaltering hand the mantle fast slipping the shoulders of our worthy Seniors. We have no doubt as to our ability to fill to overflowing this capacious garment. Modesty is not our chief asset as you doubtless have observed. What we wanted, we went for; what we went for, we got; for that which we got, we are thankful. Therein lies the secret of three happy years.

Class Roll, 1914

"Many a true word said in jest."

Harold Wallace Abbott, ΑΣΦ — Derry, N. H.

"Cubby." Silence is golden, but the pen is mightier than the s(word). An actor of great emotional appeal, strong in the delineation of "Bathos." A poet, his latest poem is on the inconstancy of woman.

"My only books were women's looks,
And folly's all they taught me."

George G. Atherton Barker — Saxonville, Mass.

With a "You gotta quit kickin' my dawg around" look on his face and a little green bag at his side he wanders from class to class.

"His cogitative faculties immersed
In a cubibundity of cogitation."

Robert Edgar Bundy, ΔΚΕ — Bethel

"Bob." With a non-skid, vegetating flow of eloquence and a willingness cramped only by an instinctive aversion toward labor, he came into our midst. He never flunks for lack of imagination; it is generally lack of breath.

"In general those who nothing have to say contrive to spend the longest time in doing it."

Willard Duncan Carpenter — Vergennes

"Carp." Our two-mile sprinter. His training was gained in a pastoral way (driving home the cows). Come on, Carp, smile and let it trickle up around your eyebrows.

"A wit with dunces, and a dunce with wits."

Howe Kendrick Cassavant, XΨ — Albany, N. Y.

"Cass." One of the reform school trio. In his Freshman days he appeared to be headed for jail, now it's generally Pearsons Hall. He discovered the uses of a razor during his Sophomore year. Why, oh, why?

"Then for his voice, there's none disputes,
That he's the nightingale of brutes."

Laurance Webster Cluff, ΑΣΦ — Hyde Park, Mass.

"Larry." Our fire-scarred veteran of parlor intrigue. With that open-work cast of countenance he will get by in a crowd. A sweet, retiring little rascal he is (N-I-T).

To those who know thee not, no words can paint;
To those who know thee well, all words are faint.

Elton Frick Cronk, ΔΥ — Greenwich, Ct.

"Chub." A paragon of apparent virtue. A dear playful little cuss with a fourteen-carrot disposition and a distinct aversion to any thing remotely suggesting labor, physical or mental.

"Wise from the top of his head up."

Richard Stewart Esten, ΚΔΡ — Middlebury

"Stew." Six feet and more of smiles topped off with a vacuum. A high comedian, a "Would Be" and an "About to Be," but never an "Is." We gaze with dismay on his shortcomings.

"Wise nature never did put her precious jewels into a garret four stories high."

Howard Clinton Farwell, ΑΣΦ — Providence, R. I.

"How I shall graduate in three years" (with advance credits from Brown). The Great Mexican Athlete and general faculty advisor. His one memorable utterance was, "Don't give up ΠΦ, boys."

"He has occasional flashes of silence that make his conversation perfectly delightful."

Benjamin Warner Fisher, ΔΥ — Vergennes

"Ben." Our "Side Door Pullman King." Read his treatise on "Seeing New England from a Freight Train." This, kind readers, is Wild Ben, the bad man of Vergennes.

"I do not give thee to posterity as a pattern to imitate, but as an example to deter."

Harvey Edward Goodell, ΔΥ — Readsboro

"Tick." Chief concoctor of deviltry. Conspicuous for a meek and innocent appearance. Authority on R'way transportation. For further information see Wild Ben above.

"A head to contrive, a tongue to persuade,
And a hand to execute any mischief."

Robert Henry Hill, ΑΣΦ — Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Bob." The pawn shop piccolo artist. Favorite strain, "My Hercules Father." The graceless son of "Brooklyn's Fighting Parson." He doesn't look natural without a clarinet or a Fatima hung in his face.

"Behold the child, by nature's kindly law,
Pleased with a rattle, tickled with a straw."

Arthur Russell Holden, ΔΣ Shirley, Mass.

After breaking several plates and ruining the camera we despaired of obtaining his picture. This sketch however was obtained by our special correspondent in the field during the battle of the "Fried Eggs" at Rocci's Lunch Emporium.

"A doleful case deserves a doleful song, without vain art or curious compliments."

Moses Gilbert Hubbard, Jr., ΔΚΕ Summit, N. J.

"Mose." Raised among the bullrushes and New Jersey Skeeters. A gentle considerate sort when wielding a paddle. He doesn't believe in its efficacy. One of our co-educationalists. Great joke, Haw! Haw! Haw!

"Greater men than I may have lived, but I don't believe it."

Ralph Mayo Hutchins, ΣΧ New Stratford, N. H.

"Hutch" alias "The Whale." This mighty mammal disdaining the harpoon falls an easy prey to Cupid's dainty shaft. His is a weighty task, that of carrying around the campus smile. However it is well lodged on that broad expanse.

"As plump as a stalled theology."

William Gleason Macfarlane — Cowansville, Que.

All questions, if on the growth and care of the mustache, cheerfully answered at my office in the Library.

"He suffers by a broad 'Tach
That seems a shoe brush stuck beneath his nose."

Walter Irving Metcalf, ΔΣ — Hydeville

"Bunny." This tender young shoot was plucked in the wilds of Hyde ille. A trailing arbutus for very bashfulness, yet sweet and hopeful. In co-education his tastes run to alliteration. A voice replete with demi-semi-quavers.

"With an air of perpetual apology for the unpardonable presumption of being in the world."

Max Duffield Miles, ΚΔΡ — Chicopee Falls, Mass.

"Max." This thought incubator, covered with a sparce crop of bristles, is one of nature's masterpieces. He is chiefly occupied as chair warmer in the Library.

"Each particular hair stands on end,
Like quills upon a fretful porcupine."

Augustus Wilfred Frost Newman, ΚΔΡ Hoosac Tunnel, Mass.

"Gus." The class "Autolycus." Treatise on "How to Furnish Your Room by the Dexterity of Your Fingers." Any night you can hear his plaintive warble, "Who Kopp(ke)ed my Goil."

"He trudged along, unknowing what he sought,
And whistled as he went, for lack of thought."

Thomas Hamilton Ormsbee* Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Pit." Ex-Editor of the "Midd News." The class "Oppie Dilldock" and general high altitude marker in imaginative flights. He is kept tremendously busy doing nothing. Chief delight is, "Taurum jacere."

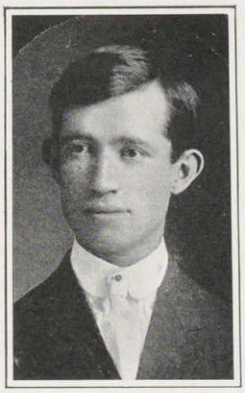
"Then he will talk, ye Gods, how he will talk."

Oscar Bingley Rogers, ΔΥ Remsenburg, N. Y.

"Bill." Serious but not necessarily sober. He never hurries (except to meals), but oh! you longshoreman's gait.

"A solemn youth with sober phiz,
Who eats his grub and minds his biz."

*This picture used by kind permission of the Rogues Gallery.



George Herbert Seavey, ΔΣ — Hudson, N. H.

"Seave." Old Morpheus, President of the "Bachelors' Club" and leader of the "Anti-Nicotine Crusade." A misogynist who is willing but shy. A wary old fox is "Seave."

"Alas, the love of women, it is known
To be a lovely and a fearful thing."

Arthur Joseph St. John — Worcester, Mass.

"Saint." Sanctimonious, smooth, glib of tongue and ready. Though late among us he holds the bona fide, original mark-eradicating record. One saint not yet preserved in stained glass.

"When the Devil was sick, the Devil a Saint would be.
When the Devil was well, the Devil a Saint was he."

Karl Isaac Solomon Sterns, XΨ — Middlebury

"Porky" alias "Dutchy." Author of a sentimental romantic comedy entitled, "Bang! Bang!" Midnight nasal soloist; for particulars address the "Night Mare Entertainment Bureau."

"A hale and hearty lad well met,
A Dutchman not already yet."

Nobuzo Suyemitsu — Uwamachi, Japan

Shipped from Uwam——(sneeze it), Japan, to receive a final polish. He takes to learning like a Dutchman takes to sour krout. The near hero of the flag scrap.

"A goodly babe, lusty and like to live."

Edward Robert Triggs, ΚΔΡ — East Port Chester, Ct.

"Triggy." Our little athlete, physical not Mexican. Chief door-tender of the "Society for the (up)Lifting of Poultry." His growth upward was stopped because of the downward pressure of a massive brain.

"Wisdom personified and sawed off."

Homer Jackson Vail, ΚΣ — Randolph

"Jack." Oratorical dictator and disseminator of that literary gem entitled, "The Bo Ho Chief." Hibernates twice a year just before exams and like the bad penny appears, head up, when the dust has settled.

"Indebted to his memory for his jests and to his imagination for his facts."

John Charles Eliot Voss, ΔΣ — Shoreham

"Jack." Our cartoonist. If your noble phiz has been distorted by his pen, swallow your wrath, gaze on his likeness and weep. Poor boy, Poor boy.

"Laugh and the world laughs with you;
Weep and you've got the solo part."

Dominic Edward Weafer, ΔKE — Morrisville

"Dom." Our long distance co-educationalist. Known among high-brows as "Lepus Cuniculus," he passes as "Rabbit" with us, and thereby hangs a tale. A plugger and a ΦBK man (in the Annanias Club).

"With books and solitude, he makes the night a gloomy vigil."

Elmer Reed West, ΔΣ — Ticonderoga, N. Y.

No(y)isy in his demeanor. Has an inordinate and sinful affection for loud hosiery. Come out, boys, and root for the Prohibition Party. Dame Pleasure gave him up in disgust.

"I want to be an angel and with the angels stand,
A hymn book on my bosom; a prayer book in my hand."

Raymond Cyrus Whitney, ΦΜΥ — Millbury, Mass.

"Whit." One of our camp followers. Chief medicine man in the lodge of the Bo Ho Chief (see Vail). His chief affliction is a distorted sense of humor and disposition to be tough.

"Say, Pa, gimme a nickle, I want to be tough."

Charles Cushman Wilcox, ΚΔΡ — Greenfield, Mass.

"Bill." Leather-lunged wind instrument artist in the "Midd Sheet Iron Band." He missed his vocation; he ought to be blowing up auto tires in a garage.

"Sentimentally I am disposed to harmony but I am incapable of a tune."

William Francis Youngs, ΔΚΕ — Summit, N. J.

"Yap." Gentle and demure, self-conscious, diffident, meek and retiring, sweet, affable, obsequious yet firm. One of our ardent Y. M. C. A. workers.

"There is nothing so becomes a man as stillness and humility."

Women's College

Florence Mary Aseltine, ΠΒΦ — Enosburg Falls

"Hello! * * * Yes, this is Florence * * * Why, I'm sorry * * * I know the pictures will be good * * * but I've got to drink tea up in Florine's room."

"Queen rose of the rosebud garden of girls."

Ellen Mary Bailey, ΠΒΦ — Wells River

Nellie says a clockmaker she'll be,
Wholly wrapped up in her project is she,
So close to the matter in hand does she stick,
That e'en in her sleep she murmurs, "Tick, tick,
Tick, tick, tick, tick."

Harriet Beecher Blakeman, ΣΚ — Stratford, Conn.

United States vs. Harriet Beecher Blakeman. The leading count of the charge being monopoly of the Parcels Post.

"Sleep's dewy wand
Has stroked my drooping lids, and promises
My long arrear of rest."

Helena Belle Carpenter — Enosburg Falls

Behold, our model student! She elects Advanced Ethics and Freshman Algebra merely for mental discipline!

"A flower of meekness."

Elizabeth Chalmers — Fitchburg, Mass.

Another Chalmers! but she has so recently come among us that we will let her off easy this time, merely saying,

"Here's to your future, your present, your past;
Please love the new college much more than the last!"

Sophia Noela DuBois — Bethel

He dances divinely; can you blame her?

"Her face, oh call it fair, not pale."

Alice Maria Easton — Middlebury

Alice is a walking sermon on neatness and precision.

"Modesty's a quality that womankind adorns."

Amy Harriet Edmands — Island Pond

Extract from the Diary of Travelling Secretary of the Y. W. C. A.—"Jan. 5, 1950. Visited Middlebury College. Found Miss Edmands still filling the offices of Assistant Instructor in Scientific Department, Coöperative Dean, Librarian, Proctor of second floor, Pearsons, and Royal Keeper of the Rubber Racks. Still lively, though age is overtaking her."

"By fits 'twas sad, by starts 'twas wild."

Isabelle Upton Esten, ΠΒΦ — Middlebury

Epitaph.

Here lies our Isabelle,
Always served her friends right well
Went far away to the heathen Chinee
And died of pining for little Nellie.

"My heart is ever at your service."

Stella Agnes Farrell — Middlebury

"Sing a song of Latin,
English, German, 'Math.'
Four and twenty talents
Stella surely hath;
When the marks are ready,
Rejoicing there will be,
She's made a reputation
With all the Faculty."

Helen Louise Foss, ΠΒΦ — Charlestown, N. H.

Helen adds one more to the long list of brilliant intellectual lights in our class, and yet the fear of flunking is an eternal skeleton in her closet. We sometimes wonder if fear is what impels her to such studious effort.

"Her hair is of a good colour,
An excellent colour."

Mary Madeline Geran — Holyoke, Mass.

Ready for sale! Twelfth edition of Miss Geran's work on "Practical Studies in Athletics," published by MacMillan & Co. Special lecture on basketball and the art of fainting opportunely. It is rumored that another work by this popular young author is now in the process of printing; title, "The Chaperonage of a College Reception Room."

Irene Augusta Graves, AX — Saint Albans

Washington sees New Statue Unveiled! Great Jurist, I. Augusta Graves, former graduate of Middlebury College, second woman whose statue finds place in the Capitol. Her great legal services fittingly honored at last.

"With look demure as any saint,
And not a sign of rouge or paint."

Jessie Martha Graves — Walpole, N. H.

"Bonnie wee thing! Cannie wee thing! lovely wee thing!"

Eleanor Whitney Hatch, ΠΒΦ — Saint Albans

She takes eight subjects and finds time to go out eight evenings a week. Question No. 1. Is co-education compatible with doing college in three years? Question No. 2. Are the "movies" cultural entertainment?

"Happy am I; from care I'm free!
Why aren't they all contented like me?"

Helen Irene Haugh, AX — Waterbury, Conn.

Kind reader, fifteen years have passed; you are reading the morning paper. What headline meets your startled eye! Helen Haugh, Society Belle, Takes up the Standard Which Mrs. Pankhurst Has Laid Down! We think explosive letters and sandwich signs are hardly becoming in a college woman.

"I have been taught to love the good—
The pure—the unalloyed—
And wicked boys, I've understood,
I always should avoid."

Charlotte Florence Jenne, ΠΒΦ — Enosburg Falls

In this elf-like personage, small and shy, it has been predicted that we see Ellen H. Richards' successor; we do not venture to say her prototype, however.

"From our own selves our joys must flow,
And that dear hut—our home."

Gertrude Frances Kingsley — Middlebury

She doesn't speak for herself, how can you expect us to speak for her?

"The same yesterday, today and forever."

Ethel Caroline Magoon, ΠΒΦ — Coös, N. H.

Room 41, Pearsons Hall. Hours 2 to 4 p. m. The original wizard will answer all questions. Solutions to every problem! No fake. Accuracy guaranteed. Prices reasonable.

"Be cool, my friend, and hear my muse dispense
Some sovereign comforts drawn from common sense."

Ruth Adelle Noyes — Salisbury

Every noise is a noise that is a noisy noise.
Ruth is a Noyes,
∴ Ruth is a noisy noise.
What's in a name?

"Esse quam videri bona malebat."

Florine Margaret Parker, ΠΒΦ — Essex, Conn.

"I want free life and I want fresh air,
In Texas, down by the Rio Grande."

"With vollies of eternal babble."

Mary Agnes Shea — Middlebury

In her search for knowledge
She finds from day to day
Far more of work in college
Than she finds of play.

"Blushing is the color of virtue."

Verena Italy Suter, AX — Swanton

A brain of goodly capacity plus an abnormally developed bump of curiosity bids fair to secure for her her highest aim—a corner on degrees and Phi Beta Kappa keys.

"The only argument available with an east wind is to put on your overcoat."

Gladys Wilson, ΣK — Bethel

"A Girl with a Purpose."

"It is good to love the unknown."

Julia Bosworth Wood — West Upton, Mass.

"Dear creature!—you'd swear
When her delicate feet in the dance twinkle round,
That her steps are of light, that her home is the air,
And she only par complaisance touches the ground"

Our Scream

THE members of the class of nineteen fifteen returned early to give a warm reception to that inexperienced bunch of youngsters known as the Freshmen. Many of our number distinguished themselves as salesmen of library and locker room keys, old books, wall paper, radiators, campus rights, etc., which the innocents were glad to get at reduced rates. Shortly after the opening of college came the Hat Scrap. Although we were outnumbered and outweighed we won easily 4-0. Then came the Freshmen Banquet (which we understand is still unpaid for), and but for the interference of the Faculty, this glorious event would have been stopped or postponed. Finally came the class football game in which we were defeated by practically the College Varsity by the small score of 6-0. The score and facts of the case easily show our superior grit and courage. Space is lacking in which to enumerate our many virtues and accomplishments but in our paths blazoned across future years will be found the index of our achievements.

Our Bleat

YES, Sir, pleased to meet you. Yes, I am a Freshman at Middlebury College. Have I became acquainted with the Sophs yet? Oh, yes, very closely and warmly acquainted. I met them in the "Hat Scrap" and found they were well up on the game. They were a little slow about calling a class meeting and electing a class president and say they were greatly peeved when 1916 held theirs first.

Don't speak of football, they (the Sophs) don't like the game. It was only through the gentle persuasion of the upperclass men that they allowed their team to appear in the field, only to meet defeat. After that they were wise enough to let well enough alone and did not mention the "Tug of War" or the "Flag Rush." Good thing for them.

Well, Sir, I shall certainly meet you again and I am sure you will hear more of 1916, for we are here to do things to make "Old Midd" just a little dearer to all her friends and to fill the very finger tips of her rivals with envy. Vale!

The Bums

Sliv Arnold, brazenly trying to out-Herod Herod in Engineering.

Prof. Swett: You may be seated Mr. Arnold. I'll do the talking till the bell rings—at the next hour we will have a test on—"

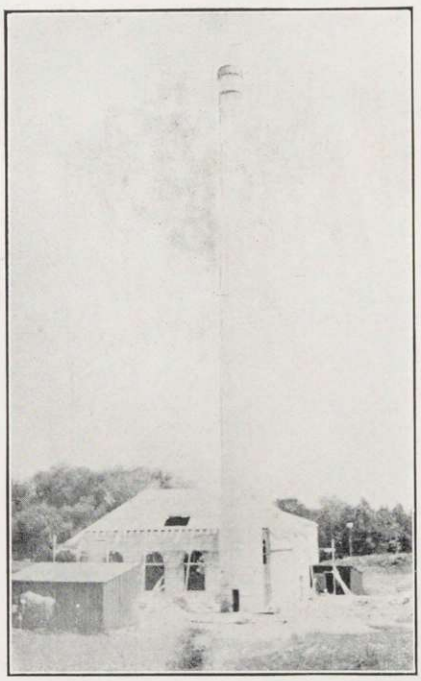
Sliv (interrupting): "I guess the class would rather hear me talk, Professor."

Prof. Swett: "We might take a trip up to Mr. Peck's lime kiln to inspect the process."

Farwell: "Could we take a girl along?"

Prof. Swett, after telling a story with a vivid point, winds up: "Abbott, you may take a girl if you like."

(You'd ought to have seen Cubby blush.)



More Heat from Billy

Sayings of Mark Twain Cady

In those days the barber kept musical instruments in his shop that his victims might amuse themselves. You see in those days they didn't have the Police Gazette for their customers.

I didn't see you, Ormsbee, you must have been quiet.

Hubbard, kindly untangle yourself and give me the thought of this paragraph.

Musuccira di Salerno, he must have been first cousin to H. Saleratus.

Themes overdue are like death and the taxes.

We have read the elegiac, now let us turn to the jassack parts of this play.

The servants thumbed noses at one another and then got to it. (From description of street fight in Romeo and Juliet.)

I don't need to dwell for any length of time on the parting scene from Romeo and Juliet, no not in a co-ed institution. I wasn't here for nothing.

All great things have come to pass, said the Ancients, but I guess they didn't reckon with Teddy R.

Addison was a clergyman's son who didn't go wrong. (Looks at Chapman.) I seem to be the only other one present who did likewise.

Translations:

Novi hominum tanquam te. I know the guy.
Ne intelligis domine. I'm wise to him.

Reading:

I reach out my arms
But all they clasp is air;
All that remains of my darling
Is the shoes he used to wear.
They must have been asbestos shoes.

I'll not keep you the full hour but let you out a few minutes early so you men can get your between class smoke.

(Pounding overhead) We'll go on as soon as they get through pounding that Latin into their heads.

Milking Time

Act One

Scene I. Late afternoon. Lower hall of chapel building. Three members of facutly with heads together in furtive conversation.

Cunny — When shall we three meet again
To concoct over plans deep lain?
Charlie B. — When the lights are all gone out
We will hold our secret rout.
Cresse — That will be by twelve o'clock
Charlie B. — Where the place to meet the rest?
Cunny — There to do our level best
Cresse — To flunk off those that we detest
All — Ace is high and duece is low
So pull the cork, let champagne flow.

Scene II. Midnight, faculty room, cigarette butts and burnt matches strewn over tables and floor. Package of Fatimas on the table. Cobwebs festooned over shelf of reference books, lurid prints on walls, a few dilapidated chairs about, room blue with smoke, faculty draped over chairs and tables, etc., Charlie B. comes in and reaches for a cigarette.

Lambert We would delve in students' gore.
Cunny I bespeak consideration,
Leonard's blood I'd have.
Charlie B. (from behind a cigarette) Aw, cut the rough stuff.
White Full oft have I considered Williams
I would have his scalp once more.
Cresse Me for Bump.
Lambert Odds bodkins four at least for me.
Paine Had I but now my class book here
Full twenty names would soon appear.
Morgan Gadzooks, for me I've chosen Hutchins.
Billy B. Pray, kind sirs, from those you've picked
Let us now to six restrict
You would soon with slaughter free
Pry my job from under me
Of all my pupils numb'ring 'leven
You have chosen nigh on seven.
Lambert Let's each flunk a man or two,
To keep the others in a stew.
Paine Boo hoo, I want at least a dozen.
Cresse Me to.
Charlie B. Give it a drink, take one or two
That's enough for your debut.
Cresse Fair sooth, good sir, in you is power
A goodly number to devour
While we have but a scanty flock
To decapitate upon the block.
Lambert What's that, gadzooks, Mehercle,
Would'st, vile wretch, out-Herod me?
Cresse W—H—A—T?
Billy B. Peace, kind sirs, be quiet.

Cunny Where do I get off, good sirs?
Lambert Fie on you sir now calm your ire
In Logic comes your heart's desire.
Billy B. Ye Gods, your courses are required
While mine are scarcely e'r desired
And should I flunk a man this year
Unattractive would they appear
Against them would arise taboes,
Then who would buy the baby's shoes.
Morgan With class books then we'll give the thrust
That'll make 'em study or make 'em dust.
Paine and Cresse (together) How many can I have?
Lambert Peace, be still, you'll get me riled.
Charlie B. Let's stiffen all our courses up.
Paine and Cresse (together) Sorry, sir, it can't be done.
Lambert I would have four but two will do
If this same course we now pursue.
Cunny What say you men, is four enough?
Billy B. Stay, stay, good sirs, be not so rash.
White I care not be it four or eight,
So long as I get Williams.
Charlie B. Could I but have a brace of ΔK's
Then I would be appeased,
Say Agnew and Arnold to,
My conscience would be eased.
All We are the boys that have the poise,
Who make exams so stiffo,
And they'll be food for the college stude,
In the neck they'll get 'em, biffo.

Prof. McGilton: The person that expects to get thru life on a sheepskin or a pig skin will have to resort to a skin game all his life.

Prof. Wright: "I am glad I have a broad appreciation. I can appreciate Shelley, Browning and Keats as well as "My Baby Bumble Bee."

Prof. Skillings: Wissen sie von Anheuser-Busch?"
Cass: "Ja wohl."

Prof. Burt: "What is there that destroys only the bark and outer wood of the tree?"
Metcalf: "A wood-pecker."

In English 16

Prof. Wright: "We should always try to use English words to express an idea and not borrow from other languages. Take for example the word "fiance," ah well, that is hardly a good example as it is in the process of being domesticated."

One of the Dean's Customs

OFFICE OF THE DEAN Dec. 10, 1912.

My dear Sir:

I notice in the Monitor's returns that you have been present at another church than that for which you are registered, on more than one consecutive Sabbath.

I want to call your attention to the custom of the college which does not permit permanent change of church without the written consent of the parents of those students who wish to make such a change.

Sincerely yours,

The question arises in our solemn conclave as to whom the woman was talking to in the train, her companion or the pig, when she called "Robert." Brother Pack Horse nearly broke the aforesaid "Startler" in the paroxysms of amusement upon seeing the little pig attach itself to the bottle of milk. It is moved and carried that he be severely reprimanded for thus giving way to unrestrained mirth while laboring in official capacity.
Adjournment.

May the burden of his sins be as easily shifted to the shoulders of the innocent as was ours.

In Memoriam

(With all due apology.)

How dear to my heart are the scenes of my College
When fond recollections recall them to view.
The century-old Seminary, Mrs. Mills' house that stood by it;
And the gong that awakened that mad merry throng.

How dear to my heart are the scenes of that winter,
When the Seven assembled and relate them anew,
The fires we lighted, the lamps that we emptied,
And the scurry of feet thru those cold ancient halls.

How dear to my heart are the sounds once familiar
When on cold winter nights the water-pipe froze.
Then seizing our pitchers and pails, to the tune of
"Last call for Wa-a-ter!", we fell into line.

How dear to my heart are the scenes of my college,
When fond recollections recall them to view.
'Midst school marms and wash-tubs tho now lie our ways,
In spirit we long for those good Freshman days.

Foolish Questions in Domestic Science

What is a ground hog?
Sausage.
What is steam?
Water that's gone crazy with the heat.
What is a chafing dish?
A frying pan that's got into society.
What is a chicken?
The inside of a good, well-behaved egg.

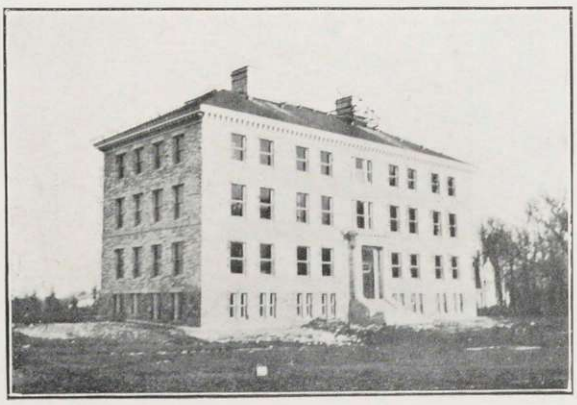
Muscovian (in Botany) looks thru a microscope at a germ wriggling about.
Budy Burt: "You will kindly draw what you see."
Muscovian: "Ah, sir! But I can not draw the moving pictures."

Prof. Bryant: If a current of electricity flows through a wire is there any transfer of copper particles?

Whitney: Yes, sir.

Prof. Bryant: Then you think a transfer has been taking place in the wires about the village. In other words, you believe that the wires have a greater cross section area at one end than at the other.

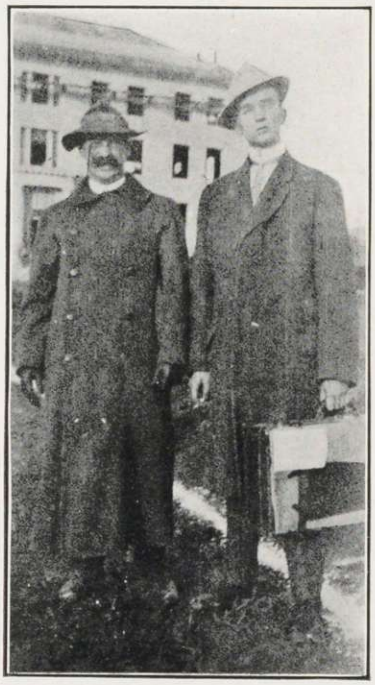
Whitney: Well, no, you see they use an alternating current.



Prof. X: Have you any criticism to make of Mr. Pollard's recitation?
Student: Well, he tries to talk like an encyclopaedia, or an unabridged dictionary, but it sounds like the pocket edition.

What We All Heard

Place—That little room at Pearsons. Time—9:55. "One! Is that all you're going to gi'me?" (Matron heard approaching) "Hurry! Hurry! Hurry up, Kimmy!"



Teddy vs. Wilson

Prof. Burt: "These men study a single minute point. They approach it, why, they gravitate toward it, like Farwell gravitates toward Pearsons Hall.

Bob Hill: "Pres. Thomas, I'd like to take eight courses this semester."
Prexy: "Mr. Hill, with so much work how will you be able to find time to call on the young lady?"
Bob: "Oh, I've got that all figured out."

Moving Picture Scenario

YOUNG LOCHINVAR AT EDDY HALL

The exchange of messages.

Scene I.—Interior of Chi Psi Lodge. Fellows gathered about Ross giving instructions. Young Lochinvar leaves on dead run for Eddy Hall. Uproarious laughter upon his departure. Ross returns with a written invitation to call in a body Friday evening, October 25. Fellows seated at supper table. Discussion as to whether it is a dress-suit affair. Ross returns to find out; great laughter. Returns bearing news that it is a dress-suit affair.

Scene II.—Room in Chi Psi Lodge. Ross before mirror struggling with a boiled shirt. Fellows drop in one by one to encourage Ross and excuse themselves on errands, assuring him that they will be ready by eight o'clock. Enter Williams and gives Young Lochinvar instructions to go over and amuse the girls until the fellows get ready.

Scene III.—Room in Chi Psi Lodge. Fellows rushing in and out in all manner of dress, sweaters, blazers, soft shirts with dress coats, Khaki trousers with boiled shirt and white vests, etc.

Scene IV.—Parlor of Eddy Hall. Two by two this motley throng marches in. Girls seated demurely about Young Lochinvar, who sits on extreme edge of chair, immaculate in dress suit and white gloves, debonairly leading a high-brow conversation. Laughter. Ross blushes.

Scene V.—Revels are over. All depart save Jones, Chapman and Red Huntly, each of whom shakes hands and says good night to our hostess Miss Bristol on three separate occasions, yet show not a departing back.

Scene VI.—Jar of jam sits on window-sill; jar disappears; jar re-appears empty in plain sight on window-sill second story of Chi Psi Lodge. Glove held as hostage appears in window of Eddy Hall.

All's well on the Rialto.

Mary Reynolds: "George Eliot is a good example. He used too much comment, etc."

Mose Hubbard (at telephone): "Hello! Is this Pearsons Hall?"

Girl's Voice: "Yes, what is it?"

Mose: "May I speak with Miss Haugh?"

G. V.: "This is Miss Haugh speaking. What can I do for you?"

Mose: "Say is that you, Helen?"

G. V. (Starting to jolly Mose): "Surely, who is this?"

Mose: "Aw, quit the jolly. You know who this is." (Pause)—"That isn't Miss Haugh. I know her voice too well. Say, call her, will you, please?"

G. V.: "Now, Mose, don't get peeved. Try and calm yourself. Want me to go to the pictures? Surely, call around at half past seven."

Leaves the phone and Miss Crawford hears the telephone still ringing.

Mose (still chewing away): "Say, what's the trouble?"

Voice: "What trouble?"

Mose: Aw, cut the kidding and call Miss Haugh, will you please? You think you're getting a rise out of somebody, don't you. I know your voice all right."

Freezing Voice: "Pardon, there is a mistake. This is MISS CRAWFORD."

Seavey yawns in class, puts up hand to face in a vain endeavor to cover the cavity.

Ted Carrier, grabbing his arm in quick dismay: "Look out there, Seav, you'll swallow it."

Never Shoot a Turkey—Run It Down

Modern History of Turkey

Crash! bang! and the window flew,
Squack! Squack! and the turkey, too,
High up in the maple tree,
With the Profs: and co-eds there to see.

'Twas thus the trouble first began,
When o'er the campus Nimrod ran
And sought the precious gobbler fat
That high among the branches sat.

A crash, a flash and a thunderous sound.
A flutter, the turkey hits the ground.
Before the faculty's dazed eyes
Into Painter they bear the prize.

Now the story is ended,
And the wish-bone is suspended,
After the feast on the hill,
With those of chickens, now nihil.

Prof Cady (reading Defoe's plan for an Academy for Women in class): "Suppose they had built a moat around Pearsons Hall."

Whisper in class: "I guess we would have to learn to swim."

News Items

E. Chauncey Walker, known in our midst as "Chip," is said to have given a temperance lecture during his Freshman year. If so, he has since reformed.

E. Jolls Wiley was much gratified by the marked respect shown his services of the previous summer when he received an offer of permanent employment in one of the large hotels of Ticonderoga as head bartender.

It is rumored about College that a stranger, a good-looking young lady, spent twenty-four hours in Middlebury without being introduced to Senior Atwood.

It has been finally decided by the faculty that, since the burden of the expense of the large College dances such as the Soph. Hop, the Junior Prom. and Senior Ball, etc., falls on its shoulders, it will be advisable to limit all expenditures and stop dancing at one o'clock in consequence thereof.

Oyez! Oyez! ye canoe owners of Middlebury College. Come early and avoid the rush. Get your passenger license for the season of the Dean of the Women's College. Hurry! Hurry! Spring season now is open.

Scandal

Big Voice: "Hello, is this Miss ——?"

Small Voice: "Yes; is that you,——?"

Big Voice: "Say, deary, would you like to go to the movies to-night?"

Small Voice: "Oh!—don't call me 'dear' over the phone; someone might be listening."

At this point some body snickered, someone gave a sharp squeal and the big voice was heard, "Who the ——?" when the line was cut off.

In the interest of peace and amity the Board decided not to fill in the names here but will cheerfully furnish data upon demand.

(Profs. Wright and Cady standing together). Prof. Wright: "You don't often see the English department together. It is somewhat of an impressive spectacle, is it not?"

Prof. Cady. (aside): "He is the impressive sight, so I must be the spectacle."

Atwood, removing a long golden hair from the shoulder of his coat: "Now where did I get THAT? Isn't it queer, here is the fifth one I've found and they are all of a different color. I've got them all rolled up and saved."

Here Atwood sees the KALEIDOSCOPE Board at his elbow, swallows rapidly twice or thrice and evaporates. Really it isn't as queer as he would have us believe, the wind will carry such a hair quite a distance.

Bob Loder: "Why do they tax oleomargarine so heavily? It could be substituted for butter by the poorer classes."

Prof. Morgan: "Well, they have to protect the cow."

Punch, the ΔKE purp, sits in Agnew's lap during class, then moves to Bump's.
Charlie Baker: "Will some fraternity brother kindly remove that animal."

Grant says there's no "white hope" in the Soph. class.

DEAR PAPA:

Your loving son is well and happy. The fellows are all so obliging and thoughtful. Only today I purchased at a very moderate sum a key to the pitchers' box. I already have secured my keys to the library, athletic field, locker room, shower baths, reading room, and am negotiating for campus rights. Please send me ten dollars so that I can pay my initiation fee into the Y. M. C. A. One of my classmates today bought a half dozen extra wicks for the electric lights. I haven't as yet been able to get any myself. One young man, who appears to be an upright young gentleman, of the Sophomore class, is trying to induce me to take up a course in ichthyology. The fee is only two dollars and, as he points out, the facility offered by the Otter Creek is unrivalled. I shall certainly avail myself of this opportunity on receipt of my first check.

Your loving son,

JULIUS CAESAR.

Billy (excitedly): "The men are breaking into the domestic science room nights and eating up the girls' cooking."
Prof.: "Well, what do I care so long as they don't die on the premises?"

Farwell before class talking politics in a loud voice.
Prof. Cady: "Hear the Bull Moose bray."

Charlie Baker: "Is there more agreement or diversity among literary critics?"
Helen Harriman: "I think there is more diversity of agreement."

Sophomore's Prayer (with apology to Heine)

O Lord! deliver us from the Evil One and Cunny's Logic.

If a body cut Prof. Cresse,
Need he get so mad;
If a body drop his courses,
Does someone feel so sad.

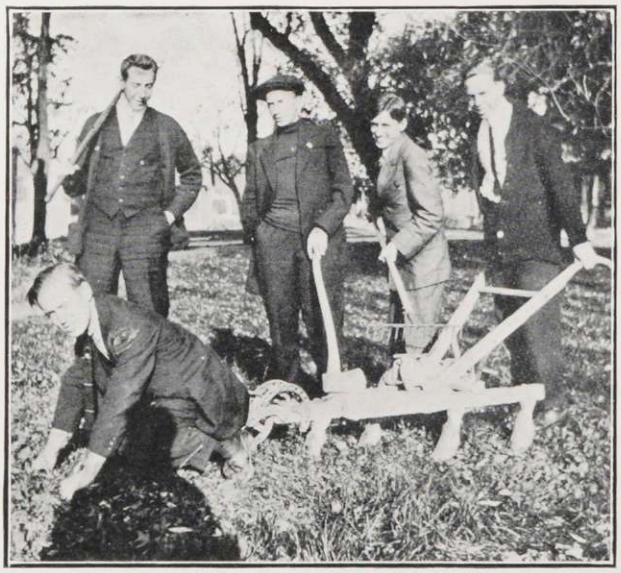
Every Prof., he has his hobby,
Some have two or three;
But only let me drop those courses,
That's enough for me.

In Battell Cottage

If there isn't room on the hat rack
To sit there side by side,
Why, she can perch on your knees, boys,
If that she will abide.

But before you dare to do it
Be sure and look for a spy,
And be sure no doors are open,
Or you'll come to grief as did I.

CAP. WILEY.



Team Work

Listen, kind reader, and you shall hear
The truthful tale of what happened last year.
'Twas in basketball season,
As doubtless you've heard,
And '14 was winning—
I give you my word!
But interest was waning—
We couldn't stand that!
So each team had a meeting
And plans for excitement
Were laid on the "mat."
What the other teams did it concerns us not;
'Twas the Sophs who worked out a jolly good plot.
"Let's get Chapman's donkey," spoke up Mary G——
"By cricky!" cried Sprout, "that's the very idee.
Our stunt will be classy in the P-rade tonight,
But say, are you sure that the beast doesn't bite?"
"'Course it doesn't," said Mary, "it's as meek as a lamb,
And I'll go for him early and not risk any slams,
In case we should have to think up some other plan."
Then Nellie B—— said, as the thought struck her cranium,
"Girls, how shall we get him into the dining-room?"
"Well, not through a window! Just open the door; 'tis easily done."
"Order!" cried Sprout. "Amy, you'll ride on its back
(Since a sprained ankle you have.)
Nellie and Julia will walk at each side.
Jack and I'll come behind and Mary, you'll lead.
At quarter to six, in our suits we will meet,
And 'mum' is the word about our great feat!"
They say that old Tuppy behaved very well
From his home to the Cottage,
So on that we shan't dwell,
But pass on to the time when
Forth from the barn the donkey was led.
"We'll go to the front porch
Where there's only one step.
Have the girls got some carrots?
Whoa, there, Tuppy!
Oh, dear! I'm most dead!"
Thus Mary all in unsuspecting glee
Conversed until the porch they reach.
The team around them quickly gathers.
"Why do you stop? What is the matter?"
"Give him a carrot, somebody, quick;
Come help me pull, Jack; that's the trick."
They both pulled together—
Tuppy's neck was like rubber.
Desperate, now, they all fell to;
Baffled like that never would do.
Jack, Julia and Amy were stationed behind,
The Captain and Mary hung onto the line.
"Brace yourselves well, girls,
And when Nellie counts three,
Push and pull; that will land him, you'll see."
"One—two—three!" her voice rang out.
But Tuppy's feet still hugged the spot.
Exhausted from their efforts futile,
They all agreed that it was useless.
Back to the barn then they hastened (?)

And the Sophomores decked in the donkey's streamers,
Into the dining-room went and P-raded.
But news of the donkey had spread broadcast,
The Freshmen were onto it from first to last.
The Sophomores might trim them in basketball,
But they'd out-wit them, after all.
Silently, one by one,
In the dusk that was rapidly falling,
Out to the barn they come,
At the same time their deed perpetrating.
When next we hear of Chapman's donkey
Tied to a hitching-post stands poor Tuppy.
At first it surely seemed as though
The joke was on the Sophomore.
They raved and raged and ranted wild.
All exclamations proved too mild!
The morning came, and lame and sore,
The Sophomores hastened out their doors
To tell each other how the Freshman stealing
Had turned into a Sophomore blessing.
Silently during the night
The snow had been falling fast.
Sad would have been their plight,
Had they to brave the blast
Leading their donkey back!

Feeding

Bundy emits a long, loud yawn in Economics I.
Prof. Morgan: "If that means you're tired you certainly may leave."

Prof. McGilton asks Chapman a question then leaves room amid general whispering. On his return asks: "Well, Mr. Chapman, what is the general opinion?"

Clipping from "The Correspondent"

Ladies, if you are looking for a husband and a gentleman who will appreciate a good woman and wife, write to me. I am 25 years old, 6 feet 6 inches tall, weight 175 lbs., light hair, blue eyes, Golden Rule religion; present occupation, student; ambitious, neither drink nor chew but smoke a pipe. I am lonesome and would like to correspond with a young lady of means, 17 to 20 years of age, must be of loving affectionate disposition, good looking, neat, a good cook and preferably of short stature. I will consider it a good evidence of sincerity if you will enclose a good, recent photograph. Only those sincere need answer. (Signed) H. L.

Question and Answer Column

Conducted in the Campus by Miss Florine Parker.

(Personal answer given if stamped envelope is enclosed.)

Dear Miss Parker:—The young man with whom I have been keeping company has been arrested on a charge of assault and battery. It was a mere matter of a hazing scrape. Do you think he will be disgraced for life? Ought I to refuse to see him any more? Please consider my case especially carefully; I do so dread to give him up.

Yours,

S. K. F.

Dear Miss Parker: Have you ever heard of the word "iconoclast"? Probably not. Please let me add it to your vocabulary.

Very truly yours,

M. R. S.

Miss Parker: I have so many, many problems to refer to you. My position necessitates them. This time, however, I will trouble you with but one, the one which just at present weighs most heavily upon me. Could you, dear Miss Parker, tell me of some method for painlessly exterminating cats?

Yours in distress,

M. T. A.

My Dear Miss Parker: I am a Senior, and even after my three years and a half of college life, I seem to have very few acquaintances. I had always supposed that I was of a reasonably amiable and sociable disposition, but my friends all tell me that I am too shy and retiring to make many friends. I play the piano, organ and clarinet; I also sing very well and dance divinely and have excellent conversational abilities. Will you kindly advise me how I may turn these talents to better accounts?

J. A. A.

Dear Miss Parker: Will you please give me a list of mumps symptoms?

NOTE.—We suppose that had it been a stop watch another college record would have been broken.

Prof. Lyford (loud talking in class during a lecture): "That's all right, ladies and gentlemen, but not so loud, please, as to drown me out."

Prof. Horton: "What is war?"

Student gives definition from book.

Prof. Horton: "Very good, sir, but do you remember Sherman's definition?"

Prof. McFarland: There are a hundred men here in Chapel this morning, counting the Freshmen.

Prof.: This is what I call a specimen of boiled down reading . (Awful stuff.)

Miss Lindsly: It's dry all right.

Carrie Buttolph (who has been taking Domestic Science): Yes, dry and burnt down on the kettle.

Prof. Would you expect to find a volcano in the arctic region?

Vail (Vainly grasping for an inspiration) I guess it's a little chilly for them up there.

Prof. Burt Can a plant be drowned? If so, what is the cause?

Miss Haugh. Why surely it can, by an excess of water.

Larry Cluff. Say Hutch where do you put your money?

Hutch. In the board bill where I can get at it three times a day.

In French

Fearing to leave him alone they instructed his uncle of the catastrophe. Rogers writes on the board.

Craignant le laisser seul on disait son oncle de la mal-de-tête.

Capt. Hutchins

Repartee

The Late Chip Walker: "Dr. Thomas, these rules are too strict."

Dr. Thomas: "Oh! no, Mr. Walker, they are not too strict for a respectable man."

Chip: "They wouldn't go in heaven and they won't go in Middlebury. Why, if they had such rules in heaven, it wouldn't be heaven."

Cabot: "Pit only paid me $1.50 on his $2:50 athletic tax."

Hutch: "Well, give him back a quarter, he's only half there."

Where Common Sense Comes In

Plotting demand curve in Economics.

Prof. Morgan: "How many horses were sold?"

Sistare: "Between five and six."

Prof. Morgan: "How can that be? Can't you be more exact?"

Hutch (in a whisper). You're right, Sis, it's five and a half; tell him that half horse is the demand for a mule.

A Typical "Bundy" Recitation

Prof.: "Do you think this method favors an increase or a decrease, Mr. Bundy?"

Bundy: "Well, ah—you see—I think —I know this doesn't just exactly relate to the question, but I thought—of course it all depends on the point of view—you can look at it from the scientific, ethical, theoretical, ancient, modern or religious point of view, but in case—by the way professor, would you kindly state your question again? I want to see if I understood it in all its ramifications—thank you—why, I don't just exactly know what the book did say—I didn't have much time to study it very thoroughly, but—you wanted just my personal opinion—well, off hand I'd say, ah—an increase."

Exact reproduction, taken on the spot by the Board's stenographer. Time—5 min. 40 sec.

Julius Cæsar

Prof. Cady: "I was raised in a Methodist minister's household and never knew from year to year where I would hang my household Gods."

(Whisper in class): "He must have been going some in his youth."

Fish Fishing

A Modern Cinderella

Time was Sunday morning fair.
Maiden with the nut-brown hair,
Walking to the village church,
All at once she gave a lurch—
Landed on the pavement gray.
Everybody looked that way,
Laughed and laughed and laughed again—
All the girls and all the men.
Maiden, blushing, tried to rise,
Then was heard some dreadful cries.
Pump was gone and nowhere found!
Look! it's lying on the ground.
To the rescue comes a youth,
Hurrying forward, nothing ruth,
Grasps it daintily by the toe,
Presents it to her, bowing low.
A softly whispered, "Thank you, sir,"
Set his fluttering heart astir.
But the maid walked calmly on—
Romance sure is dead and gone!

Anticipation

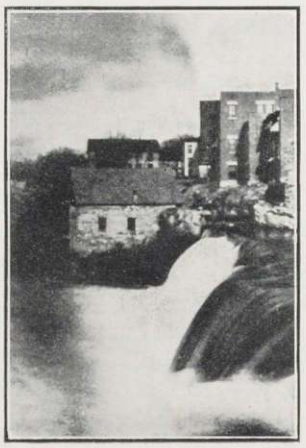
Faye—Does Beckwith ever take a girl? Not that I ever heard of. Why? I just wondered. I like his looks. He is a ΚΔΡ, isn't he? Yes. Darrell says he is another Johnson when off with the boys. What is Johnson when off with the boys? I don't know what his reputation is and only what Beckwith seems like in class. I thought later that perhaps you meant Johnson the pugilist but I knew that couldn't be.

(This interesting little note was picked up last spring in the Chem. Lab. If Beckwith will call at our office the name of the girl who takes such an interest in him will be cheerfully furnished.)

McCullough (in English '13): Homer copied Virgil for Dryden said that Homer was more copious."

Charlie Baker: "You can bring everything to a common genus and then compare them. Why, indeed, is an elephant like a toothpick? Simply because neither can climb a tree."

Prof. Shillings: "Take lachen, add el to the stem, umlaut it and you get a smile."



Dear Miss Parker: My little daughter has early shown detective talent. Shall I train her my self by letting her do amateur sleuthing here at home, or would you advise putting her into Scotland Yard for professional training? Please do not advise me rashly, for my child is the apple of my eye.

Anxiously,

K. M.

The easiest pen to fill.

One of the features which makes Moore's an unquestionably superior pen is the ease and rapidity with which it can be filled. Simply remove the cap, drop the ink in and the pen is ready for use — no inky joints to unscrew.

Moore's is a very satisfactory pen to carry around in your pocket or bag, because it does not afford the slightest possibility for leakage. Remember also that this pen never fails to write with the first stroke — requires no shaking. Its ink flow is always free and even.

Every Moore Non-Leakable Fountain Pen carries with it the most unconditional guarantee.
